How to use this kit

One habit. Thirty days. Five minutes of paper a day. Go in this order the first time, then keep the pages you love.

1

Pick one habit

Choose from 30 ideas, or write your own. Small enough to do on your worst day.

Page 3

2

Plan it once

Give it a time, a place, small steps, a treat and a proof photo. Write it, then stop deciding.

3

Do it daily

Tick each step, stick or sketch your proof, circle your mood and write one line.

Page 5 · print 30

4

Track it

Colour a square every day you show up. Winter Arc goal: 20 days in November.

Pages 6 to 8

5

Guard it

Block your time, set rules for your apps, and log every urge to scroll.

Pages 9 to 11

6

Look back

Keep your proof photos as memories and review each week in five minutes.

Pages 12 and 13

The one rule: never miss twice. One missed day is normal. Two in a row is where habits slip, so the day after a miss is the most important day.

Where to keep it: wherever your phone usually sits. Put the paper where the scrolling used to start.

Pick one habit

Tick the one that would change your winter most. Just one for now. You can add more in December.

MY HABIT

I AM A… (READER, RUNNER, EARLY RISER)

✦ Say who you are, not what you'll try: "I'm a reader" beats "I want to read"

My habit plan

Fill this in once. Every answer you write now is a decision you won't have to make at 7 am.

MY TREAT TODAY

TOMORROW'S FIRST TINY STEP

❄ Winter Arc · November

Up to three habits. Each one needs 20 days this month. Colour the date when it's done, and a bar segment as you go.

___ / 20 days

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28

29	30

✦ 20 out of 30 leaves room for real life. Rest days don't break anything

Month at a glance

Month _____

One row per habit. Colour the square when it's done, leave it blank when it isn't. Count the total at the end.

Habit	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13	14	15	16	17	18	19	20	21	22	23	24	25	26	27	28	29	30	31	Total

Never miss twice.

Put a small dot in a blank square the day after a miss. That dot means: today I show up, no matter how small. A 2-minute version still counts.

My phone-free blocks

Shade the times your phone stays away, every week. Start with one block, like the first hour after you wake up.

✦ Blocks that repeat every day turn into habits on their own

My phone rules

You don't have to delete anything. Just decide the rules once, while you're calm, instead of every time you're bored.

APP	MY RULE	WHY IT MATTERS TO ME
Instagram	3 opens a day	I lose my evenings to Reels
TikTok	Only after 5,000 steps	Move first, scroll later
YouTube	Not at my desk	Work time is work time

Scroll urge log

An urge is a wave: it rises, peaks and passes. Each time you want to grab your phone, write it here first.

TIME	WHAT PULLED ME IN	WHAT I DID INSTEAD	DID IT PASS?
9:40 pm	Bored after dinner	Read 5 pages	Yes, in 3 min

✦ Notice a pattern? Put a phone-free block right there

A camera roll of wins

Print your favourite proof photos small and stick them here, with the date, your mood and one line. Your life, not someone else's highlight reel.

A NOTE TO NEXT-WEEK ME

Paper plans it.
The app guards it.

This kit is built from the Dear Brain app. Paper is where you think and reflect. The app is where the habit gets protected, live, while your phone is in your hand.

ON PAPER	IN DEAR BRAIN
Habit plan	Pick from 100+ habits with ready-made steps, then set its time
Daily steps	A step-by-step timer walks you through each one
Phone rules	The apps you pick actually lock until the habit is done
Proof box	Snap a photo, Dear Brain checks it, your apps open
Trackers	Your streak and calendar fill in on their own, plus Home Screen widgets
Memories	Every proof photo is saved with your mood and one line
Winter Arc	Pick habits, do each on 20 days in November, share your card

The best way to use both: fill in pages 3 and 4 by hand, then set the same habit up in the app. Let the app lock your apps and check your proof each day. On Sundays, sit down with page 13 and look back on paper.
